The old count buildings, a little south of Cleaverville, were place belidings, a little south of Cleaverville, were placed at his service, city funds appropriated, and the young thieves, who otherwise would have been sent to Bridewell, consigned to his care. The site on which the buildings stand is admirable, fronting on the Lake and commanding a fine view, but the buildings themselves are execrable, scarcely fit for cattle. By almost superhuman labor, barrels of whitewash, soap and water which it took Cleaver's factory and the lake to supply, there has been a great cleaning and they are now tolerable. The grounds are beautifully laid out with young frees and evergreens, and in a short time, should the county be displosed to sell the property, the improvements, all the result of the labor of the boys, would almost pay the whole express of the institution.

Every dermiliory is cleaned each day and the whitewashing operation is perpetual. Besides six hours strigtly daily, the boys are passed through all the necessary training to become domestic servants, gardeners, cooks, tailors, joiners, in short by the time a boy has been one year in the institution, he will have soquiried almost as much self reliance as an old soldier. We were especially pleased with the efforts to call forth in the boys a love of nature and the fine arts, &c., nearly every bedroom was the nucleus of a mineral cabinet, picked up from the fake above, and the walls of many were covered over with pictorials of every description. Most of the boys know something of Geology, of which science they are very fond.
